The following programs are due at the beginning of class on Tuesday, September 17.

1. Write a program that takes two whole numbers as inputs, and outputs the quotient and remainder of these two numbers.

2. Write a Mad Lib program. In other words, your program should ask the user for an adjective, a verb, and a noun (or multiple adjectives, verbs, etc.) and substitute these into a few sentences to create a funny story.