The one important thing I have learned over the years is the difference between taking one’s work seriously and taking one’s self seriously. The first is imperative and the second is disastrous.
– Margot Fonteyn

2. Cheer for the Yankees. Even more loudly.

3. Look at one of the bridges of New York. Softly.

4. (a) Do nothing in Washington Square Park.
   (b) Do it well.

5. Consider the popular TV show “The Big Bang Theory.”
   (a) Which character do you most resemble.
   (b) Really? How about an honest answer.
   (c) You are struggling with your Algebra assignment. Which character would you seek assistance from.
   (d) Which character would you seek solace from.

6. While in the shower:
   (a) Begin at 1. Double until you pass $10^6$. Loudly.
   (b) Envision a square. Apply $R$. Apply $H$. Apply $R^{-1}$. Silently.
   (c) Take the NYU tuition per term. Multiply by eight. Make a mournful sound.
   (d) Take a large subgroup $G$ with a medium size normal subgroup $N$. Collapse $N$ to the identity. Listen to the sonic boom.

When you come to a fork in the road, take it.
Yogi Berra, 1925-2015