

Reprints and Page Charges

Reprints

The Computer Society sells reprints to authors and members at preferred rates. These rates are outlined on the enclosed Reprint Price Schedule. To order reprints of a paper, complete the enclosed Reprint and Page Charges Order Form and return it to the address below. All reprints are produced on coated paper and with distinctive covers.

Voluntary Page Charges

In accordance with IEEE Policy 6.9 the Computer Society levies voluntary page charges only on its transactions, not on magazines or proceedings. It is the company or institution which is being asked for support, not the author. Payment is not obligatory nor is it a prerequisite for publication.

Such support is based on the philosophy that the usual research or development project is complete only when results have been disseminated to the engineering and scientific community and that it is thus proper for the financing of the project to include funds to help cover the cost of publication. Page charges are widely used throughout the scientific publishing community and are widely accepted. For example, most US government agencies recognize the payment of page charges as a legitimate part of the cost of performing research and development work under Government contracts.

Page charges are levied for each printed page. Payment entitles the author to 100 reprints at no additional charge. Additional reprints may be ordered at the prices noted on the Reprint Price Schedule.

Mandatory Overlength Page Charges

IEEE Policy 6.10 permits some types of periodicals to levy mandatory charges for each page in excess of a page limit set by that publication. The Computer Society has instituted a new Mandatory Overlength Page Charges policy, which is effective for all transactions papers. It states that papers exceeding our regular page length limit of 14 formatted transactions pages, including references and author biographies, will be assessed fees of $200 per page. However, regular papers may not exceed 18 transactions pages unless approved by the EIC. Authors will be notified of any assessed fees when galley proofs are sent out, and payment must be sent at the time galley proofs are approved by the author.

Ordering and Billing Information

The Computer Society is not equipped to handle any type of accounts receivable. As a result, all non-US government orders must be accompanied by payment in full before they will be shipped. Please help complete the loop between your organization's procedures and ours! If your organization requires a purchase order before making any purchases, you must have it processed and a check issued before we can ship reprints. We urge that the information on the Reprint and Page Charges Order Form and on this page be provided to your purchasing department so that your order may be processed quickly. Be advised that reprints obtained with agreement to pay page charges will not be shipped until the page charges are paid.

Normally, delivery of reprints can be expected approximately six to eight weeks after the date of order. An invoice marked "PAID" will be included with the shipment. Page charges are invoiced separately.

If early billing is needed to accommodate the deadline of a contract or grant, please contact the Computer Society Reprint Department at the address below.

ELECTRONIC INFORMATION DISSEMINATION

A. Copyright Notice. The following copyright notice must be displayed on the initial screen displaying IEEE-copyrighted material electronically:

"© 200x IEEE. Personal use of this material is permitted. However, permission to reprint/republish this material for advertising or promotional purposes or for creating new collective works for resale or redistribution to servers or lists, or to reuse any copyrighted component of this work in other works must be obtained from the IEEE."

B. Electronic Preprints. Upon submitting an article to the IEEE for review and possible publication, the author must add the following notice to the first screen of any of his/her previously posted electronic preprint versions of the paper:

"This work has been submitted to the IEEE for possible publication. Copyright may be transferred without notice, after which this version may no longer be accessible."

When IEEE accepts the work for publication, the author must add the IEEE copyright notice shown in Policy 6.2.10A above to any previously posted electronic versions of the particular paper submitted and provide IEEE with the electronic address (URL, ftp address, etc.) of the primary electronic posting.

When IEEE publishes the work, the author must replace the previous electronic version of the accepted paper with either 1) the full citation to the IEEE work or 2) the IEEE-published version, including the IEEE copyright notice and full citation. Prior or revised versions of the paper must not be represented as the published version.

C. Collected Works. IEEE-copyrighted collected works, such as Transactions, Journals, Magazines, and conference proceedings (full text and/or abstracts) and collections of published papers (including collections distributed from a single server or created through a collection of pointers that refer to versions posted by IEEE authors), may not be posted for electronic distribution without prior written permission from IEEE. Such permission will be contingent upon the placement of prominently displayed copyright and reuse notices. Another condition in granting permission will be that the posted collected work include a monitoring mechanism for authorizing access to the material and for the reporting of usage data. Finally, it is recommended that IEEE entities wishing to place IEEE-copyrighted conference proceedings on the Web/Internet also refer to the "TAB Book Broker Policy Statement on Conference Proceedings Disseminated Electronically". The Policy Statement can be obtained by sending an e-mail request to tab.proceedings@ieee.org.

D. Personal Servers. Authors and/or their companies shall have the right to post their IEEE-copyrighted material on their own servers without permission, provided that the server displays a prominent notice alerting readers to their obligations with respect to copyrighted material and that the posted work includes the IEEE copyright notice as shown in Policy 6.2.10A above. An example of an acceptable notice is:

"This material is presented to ensure timely dissemination of scholarly and technical work. Copyright and all rights therein are retained by authors or by other copyright holders. All persons copying this information are expected to adhere to the terms and constraints invoked by each author's copyright. In most cases, these works may not be reposted without the explicit permission of the copyright holder."

E. Classroom Use. Instructors are free to post their own IEEE-copyrighted papers on their institution's servers, provided that appropriate copyright, credit, and reuse notices appear prominently with the posted material. Other electronic distribution of IEEE-copyrighted works on university servers may be done only with prior written permission from IEEE.

F. Finality of Work. After IEEE accepts the work for publication and the copyright has been transferred, IEEE will not allow changes or revisions to the work without further review and approval.

G. Linking to IEEE. The IEEE and many affiliated societies provide publication and society information via Internet servers. Links to society servers are encouraged and prior consent is not required.

H. Third-Party Rights to Reuse IEEE-Copyrighted Material. Licenses and permissions to use electronic versions of IEEE-copyrighted material (abstracts, full text, etc.) for commercial or other non-IEEE-related purposes may be granted under terms approved by the IEEE Publication Activities Board.
