

Free Culture @ NYU
and the ACM Present:

Professor Jamie Boyle
Duke Law School

in conversation with Fred Benenson and Inga Chernyak
of Free Culture

"Are we paying too much attention to the DMCA and what are we missing?"

The Digital Millennium Copyright Act is one of the most controversial laws relating to copyright. It not only forbids picking the digital locks that protect copyrighted work, but also the dissemination of such information, with wide ranging consequences. While some consider the DMCA unconstitutional, many others simply attempt to work around it in their daily operations. Join us as Jamie Boyle and Free Culture @ NYU ask whether or not the DMCA is worth fighting over, and what we are risking by paying too close attention to it.

WEDNESDAY SEPTEMBER 20TH AT 7PM
WARREN WEAVER HALL ROOM 513