

SEEING THE MOUNTAIN WEST

A LOPSIDED VIEW

by

Philip J. Davis

"This wild country spoke a language other than mine."

---Owen Wister

"Et in Arcadia ego." --- Anon.

For

Sue Wesley

Table of Contents

Introduction: The Region Defined

First Night in The West, or Sir: Your Waterbed is Leaking.

Third Night in The West, or Sir: Your Aridity is Flowing

Swarming Jerusalem in the Bosom of Solitude: Salt Lake City

Eat, Drink, and Be Merry, for Tomorrow You may be in Utah

Las Cruces, New Mexico

Pocatello, Idaho

"Closed in Winter"

Pica pica hudsonis

Albuquerque, New Mexico

Bill Jack

Acoma Pueblo, New Mexico

Grants, New Mexico

Mormons, Unitarians, Profs :
Social Notes from Salt Lake City

Shaggy Moose Story

Moab, Utah

Arches National Park

Four Corners

Mesa Verde, Colorado
Durango, Colorado
Green River, Utah
Smilin' Through : La Fanciula del West
Western Garb
Western Twang
Claremont, California: I Hear You
The Bishop of Calivada
Western Mystagogue
Botanical Notes
The Great Salt Lake
The Land of the Silver Dollar
Western Dishes
Rodeo: Jackson Hole, Wyoming
Western Bear Story with a Do-It-Yourself Punch
Line
The Quintessential West: Laramie, Wyoming
Mules and Desperadoes
Excerpt from Bill Nye: "Table Etiquette"
Mausoleum for the Leatherbound
"The Virginian": Medicine Bow, Wyoming
Medicine Bow
Wagon Wheels
The Ames Monument
West is the Quest
The West as an Idea: The Search for Purity
Little Big Horn, Montana
Salt Lake City-- Good Bye