PURPOSE: Find a 10-week internship

Dear Sir/Madam,

I have learned from my classmate and schoolmates that New York University can provide internship opportunities for us students. Thus, I am writing this letter to recommend myself as a qualified candidate for this internship.

My name is WANG Zhihan, 21 years old. I am studying Mathematical engineering in INSA Rouen (Institut National des Sciences Appliquées de Rouen) in France. This is the third year of my study and I will graduate with a master's degree in two years.

As many of my schoolmates once had internship at New York University, I have a desire to have internship here after searching lots of information about this university. In addition, I am interested in research in the university and I would like to find the difference between the university in the USA and the engineering school in France. Furthermore, since New York University is a very famous university, I believe that I can expose you more fully my skills and motivations and I can learn more about my specialty and improve my scientific research capabilities for my future study and my future work.

I think I am qualified for the internship. First of all, my studies have included courses in mathematics and information technology and during my three years' education, I have grasped the principals of my major and skills of practice. And my grades come out top in my department. Additionally, in the past two years, I have done plenty of subjects with my teammates, which help me consolidate my knowledge and develop my analysis and communication skills. Besides, I once worked as an intern at Renault Company in France, which taught me a lot such as punctuality and team spirit. Thus, I am sure I can adapt to work better. At last, I hope to bring my sense of innovation and my study, at the same time, a value of multiculturalism. And my level of Mandarin and French can also help me work better.

Thank you very much taking the precious time to read my letter of recommendation. I would appreciate it if I could have the opportunity to get the internship.

Thank you for your consideration. I am looking forward to hearing from you soon.

Yours faithfully,

WANG Zhihan
