

NEW YORK UNIVERSITY

Computer Science Department

FALL COLLOQUIA 2009

251 Mercer Street, New York, NY 10012

Friday, September 25, 2009 11:30 a.m., Room 202

Sam Roweis, Assistant Professor of Computer Science, NYU

"Learning from Multiple Measurements"

Friday, October 2, 2009 11:30 a.m., Room 1302

Claire Mathieu, Professor of Computer Science, Brown University

"Correlation Clustering with Noisy Input"

Friday, October 9, 2009 11:30 a.m., Room 1302

Alfred Inselberg, Senior Fellow San Diego Supercomputing Center & Computer Science and Applied Mathematics Departments, Tel Aviv University

"Visualizing R^N and Some New Dualities"

Friday, October 16, 2009 11:30 a.m., Room 1302

Manu Sridharan, Research Staff Member, IBM

"Refactoring for Reentrancy"

Friday, October 23, 2009 11:30 a.m., Room 1302

Neil Lawrence, Senior Lecturer, School of Computer Science, University of Manchester

"Latent Force Models"

Friday, October 30, 2009 11:30 a.m., Room 1302

Ryan McDonald, Senior Research Scientist, Google, Inc.

"Web-scale Multi-lingual Opinion Mining: 'Just What the Doctor Ordered' or 'Run of the Mill'?"

Friday, November 6, 2009 11:30 p.m., Room 1302

Sean White, Columbia University

"TBA"

Thursday, November 12, 2009 12:30 p.m., Room 102

Nancy Leveson, Professor of Aeronautics & Astronautics and of Engineering Systems, MIT

"Computers and Safety"

Monday, November 16, 2009 2:00 p.m., Room 201

David Wolpert, Stanford University and NASA

"From Game Theory to Game Engineering"

Friday, November 20, 2009 11:30 a.m., Room 1302

Bernard Chazelle, Eugene Higgins Professor of Computer Science, Princeton University

"Bird Flocking and Natural Algorithms"

Friday, December 4, 2009 11:30 a.m., Room 1302

Alexandre Morozov, Assistant Professor of Physics & Astronomy, Rutgers University

"Modeling the Sense of Smell with Biological Receptor Arrays"